Planning for a Medical Surge

4

- Today, we have a walk-through at the Convention Center with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.
- Setup will begin on Monday, April 20.
- By the first week of May, the Convention Center will have 500 beds.

THE GOAL IS TO NEVER NEED TO USE THE CONVENTION CENTER

Thank You Open Society Foundations

5

The Open Society Foundations is investing $1 million in the District of Columbia to support short-term needs arising from the COVID-19 pandemic.

Through grants to nonprofit organizations, Open Society's contribution will provide direct assistance and legal aid to:

- undocumented immigrants
- workers facing challenges obtaining unemployment insurance and other benefits
- families of currently incarcerated people

THANK YOU

DC Public Schools is in the process of distributing 16,000 devices and 5,000 hotspots.

- 20 high schools have already distributed devices to over 2,000 students
- 6,000 to 9,000 devices are going out to students in middle and elementary school

Since learning at home began, our online learning hub on Canvas has received more than 2 million page views.

Schools will continue to work with families to distribute devices, and 5,000 more hotspots will be delivered to families next week.

On April 7, the new DC Education Equity Fund distributed $1.04 million in grants to DCPS and charters.

Donations through the Education Equity Fund will help purchase 180 computers for students at Luke C. Moore, Washington Met, Cardozo and Ron Brown.

Served more than 162,000
meals to students at our meal sites. Ten grocery sites launched this week.

- More than 300 DCPS families joined our recent virtual Parent University Workshops. The next one will take place on April 22 at 3:00 p.m. and will be about how to help your children manage stress.
- The DC Child and Family Services Agency is supporting our DCPS and public charter schools with contacting disengaged families.
 - If you are a parent or guardian who has not yet made contact with your child's teacher or school, you must reach out to them.

The Office of the State Superintendent is waiving:

- ✓ 180-day rule
- ✓ community service requirement
- ✓ Carnegie unit (or “seat-time”) requirement for high school courses that students were already enrolled in

The College Board is offering online AP exams, and DCPS is distributing devices to students in AP courses who need a device.

LEARNING AT HOME

will continue for the rest of the school year.

DCPS will close on May 29

Charter schools will close on or about May 29
